

Degrees Awarded To 124 Now Part Of Alumni Ranks

A total of 124 students received their Associate in Arts degrees on Friday, May 11, during the 64th annual commencement exercises in the College Gymnasium.

The address was given by Dr. Walbert W. Kaempfer, Dean of the Faculty, Asheville Biltmore College, Asheville, N. C.

Speaker for the sermon to the graduates the preceding evening was Rev. Francis E. Reinberger, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Frederick, Md.

President Todd H. Bullard, in acknowledging the candidates for graduation, paid special tribute to the young man and woman who led their class academically for the past year: Arna Glenn Morrison, Grafton, and Miss Christine Payne, of Keyser.

Dedication Of New Fine Arts Building Set For November

Completion of the new auditorium and Fine Arts Building on the college campus is expected about July 20, according to President Todd H. Bullard, who has announced that formal dedication of the structure has been tentatively scheduled for Oct. 30-Nov. 4, and in all probability will be held around Nov. 3.

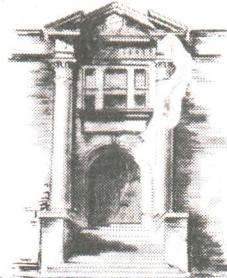

The new auditorium will provide seating for 950 persons and the multi-purpose building will permit a subdivision into three large classrooms, each capable of being served by the projection room above at the rear.

The stage is said to be "one of the best in the state" and will allow the college to bring in quality programs it could not previously sponsor because of lack of facilities.

The new building is located at the west end of Arnold Street in the area known to many alumni as Arcadia Heights.

REMODELING PLANNED

Some extensive renovations in the Administration Building are planned for the summer months, according to President Todd H. Bullard, who said complete details will be released in the fall issue of the Alumni Newsletter.

Alumni Join Students and Faculty In Farewell To Dr. Nancy Miller Retiring After 30 Years Service

Dr. Nancy M. Miller, professor and chairman of the modern language department, who proved to be not only an instructor but counselor and friend to hundreds of former students, has retired after 30 years of service at Potomac State College.

Her sentiments, quoted in the latest issue of the Pasquino, indicate: "There are books to be read, a house to be remodeled, places to travel, a big city with all sorts of cultural advantages, and a warm family to enjoy, and much as I love Potomac State, it is going to be pleasant not to have to meet deadlines and jump for bells."

Her numerous friends among the alumni ranks share the views expressed in the same article that "no one who knows Dr. Miller, or who has enjoyed the benefits of her teaching, can deny that she will leave a great void on the campus, where she has not only guided hundreds of students through German, French, and Spanish classes, but has served the college and the community loyally in many other respects."

Dr. Miller has served as adviser for Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society for many years and was instrumental in organizing its Recognition Day program 27 years ago. For many years she has served as a member of the college Executive Committee. She has served on and been chairman for the past year of the Scholarship Awards Committee. Her sage advice has been given as she served also on the Public Exercises Committee, the study of transfer programs, chaired many a committee delegated to choose campus beauties, headed

She has an AB degree from Lebanon Valley College and both

Homecoming Date Set For October 7; Hope To See You!

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7!
Mark it on your calendar NOW!
The annual fall Homecoming will be observed on campus that day.
We'll send you more information about activities in our Fall Newsletter in September.

Reunions of other classes are encouraged. Please contact Mrs. Robert T. Coffman, director of Alumni Affairs, for more information.

Workers Engaged On First Phase Of Landscaping Job

The first phase of a long-range plan for landscaping the entire campus is now underway and various trees and shrubbery are being planted near the buildings as part of the beautification project.

Workmen have already planted pin oaks in front of Davis Hall, and elsewhere on the campus are flowering crab apples, forsythias, scarlet oaks, and junipers. Several plants have already been set out in the vicinity of the Student Center and an azalea hedge along the entire front of the campus is being attempted, though some difficulty has been experienced with these flowers in this section of the country.

The project, which will be continued year by year, has been planned by professional landscape architects.

College to Expand Counseling Service

Potomac State College will be making provisions for considerable expansion of its counseling services beginning with the fall term, according to President Todd H. Bullard.

Making it possible for the college to put its plans for such development into action is the announcement that the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare was awarded a grant of $32,000 to Potomac State College under Title 3 of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The grant provides for a cooperative arrangement with West Virginia University, under which the University's Counseling Center will provide consultation in the development of Potomac State's center.

Immediate plans call for a fulltime director of the established Counseling Center, a counselor in a research and liaison capacity for a year, and necessary clerical help.

New Professional Positions Planned; Several Instructors Leave Campus

Seven new professional positions will be included on the faculty roster with the opening of school next fall, according to President Todd H. Bullard.

The new appointments will include the addition of an associate professor in engineering, the addition of an assistant professor in English, new positions in social science and in chemistry, with the level of professors, the naming of a director in computer science, and two full-time guidance counselors.

The new position in the engineering department is being created because of plans to offer work in technical courses in engineering this fall. A program launched last year in drafting design will be continued but in addition the college will offer a course in field engineering or highway design.

President Bullard said several

Yearbook Honors "Miss Rebecca"

The 1967 CATAMOUNT has been dedicated to Mrs. Rebecca Z. Carroll, 40-year veteran employee of the college, who served as chef and pastry specialist for the past 36 years. Mrs. Carroll died October 27, 1966, after a brief illness.

The dedicatory page reads as follows: "We, the Administration, Faculty, and Student Body of Potomac State College, dedicate this 1967 edition of the CATAMOUNT to 'Miss Rebecca' for her over forty years of loyalty, devotion, and service to our Alma Mater. She was the guiding hand that carefully nurtured the physical young men and women in order to enable them to become better students.

Milton must have had in mind such a noble individual as 'Miss Rebecca' when he wrote:

"Who best

Bear his mild yoke, they serve him best. His state
Is kingly: thousands at his bidding speed,
And post o'er the land and ocean without rest;
They also serve who only stand and wait."

Immediately before coming to Keyser, she was an instructor of Latin and Greek at the University of Pittsburgh, where she had previously been appointed a graduate assistant and was given membership in Sigma Kappa Phi honorary.

Dr. Miller will be residing in Pittsburgh with her sister, Mrs. Thomas A. Richards, where she will be surrounded by many interesting nieces and nephews.

Board Ups Amount Of Its Scholarships

The Board of Directors of the Potomac State College Alumni Foundation, at a recent meeting in April, increased the amount of the two Alumni scholarships from $50.00 to $75.00 per semester. Foundation president Joseph W. Kessel '48 said the action was made possible through increased income from the trust fund of the Foundation.

The 1967 campaign for funds is now in progress. Former students are urged to send in contributions of any amount.
